There has been much stress put upon the importance of the United States "image". A large majority of sturdy Americans think that is true and that we'd better take fast action to replace the timid "Casper Milquetoast" image we present to the world with the stalwart Uncle Sam of old.

In spite of numerous reports from reliable sources verifying that Soviet Russia is sending armament and troops to Cuba; even in the face of the defiant statement issued jointly by Soviet Russia and Cuba, that "Soviet arms and military instructors are being sent to Cuba 'to meet aggressor and imperialist elements', for water-logged Administration still insists we have had no official information" that Soviet troops are being landed in Cuba, and the armament is for "defense". Why haven't we had official information from government intelligence departments or is the President waiting for an OK from Castro to send some of our men down there?

Kith Morlett, roving Latin America correspondent who was in Cuba within the last two weeks reported in the NY Herald Tribune: "Thousands of strapping young Russians moving quietly into military camps close to Havana outskirts ... from 5000-8000 Russians have arrived so far ... At the same time a continuous 'armada' of cargo ships is now stretched out between Russia's Black Sea ports and Cuba, carrying trucks, jeeps, machinery, guns - and ground to air missiles for Fidel Castro's armed forces." He also stated, "A western diplomat has reported to his government that many of these men are Soviet troops, arriving in increasing numbers and that this is all a part of a carefully planned military operation to underwrite the Castro regime."

And isn't it about time for "Bobby" to get busy on his job as US Attorney General? There was big hoop-la when he flamboyantly announced that the Communist Party USA and all its members would have to register as required by the Internal Security Act of 1950. They flatly refused - and he has yet to take steps for enforcement of the order.

Instead, the commie leaders are being permitted to go on a brain-washing tour across the country to reach our young people. "This campaign is being coordinated by a newly formed Lecture Bureau located at 23 West 26th St., NYC - the address of the Communist Party USA and The Worker ... Since the fall of 1961, national party representatives (billed as "Communist spokesmen") have addressed scores of college groups from coast to coast." (HUMAN EVENTS 9-1-62)

Medical care for the aged, Federal aid to education, full employment, housing, trade and civil rights, being loudly touted by the President and his cohorts as "must" legislation, is a tragic mockery when the national security and freedom of our people are endangered with no protective action being taken. No wonder Khrushchev bellows his demands at us!

Washington needs a jolt from the people! We can give it to them now by mail, wire and phone; and in November by voting into office patriotic men and women who will live up to their oath of office to "Protect and defend the Constitution of the United States; men and women to whom the Monroe Doctrine still stands for the protection it has formerly afforded this hemisphere since it was proclaimed in 1823."
